CPSIA COMPLIANCE

Trademarks works hard to be compliant with the current CPSIA laws for screen printing and embroidery. This law affects items that are intended for children 12 years old and younger. When required, non-phthalate inks will be used on children's items. Our embroidery threads are CPSIA compliant. Tracking information will be added to items where required.

We will only sell or decorate items intended for children 12 years old and younger that have a CPSIA compliance certificate.

Please visit www.SafeInk.net for more information about our compliance and links to the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

Trademark and Copyright Laws

When artwork has been submitted for reproduction in producing an order, we assume it is submitted in full compliance with the laws governing copyright, trademarks, etc. Purchasers, by placing these orders, agree to hold Trademarks harmless for any damages, costs, and/or expenses arising under these laws as a consequence of our use of said artwork. A letter of indemnity or licensing agreement will be required prior to production of copyrighted material.
